May erroneous reflection on the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation and any misstatement which may appear in the columns of the Express will be gladly corrected upon its being brought to the attention of the management.

"Carry State Is Main Idea" reads the headline of the article in which the Oklahoma City Times reports the meeting of the Republican State committee. Astonishing! Nobody had any idea that they were ribbing up a scheme like that. However, now that the Democrats know exactly what they are driving at, they can proceed to dig a few trenches and practice preparedness.

While Colonel Roosevelt is not visibly manifesting any great amount of interest in the once-wax G. O. P., and while we don't pretend to possess any peculiar gifts as a mind reader, our guess is that if the x-ray were turned upon the interior of the cranium of the great faunal naturalist, it would be discovered that his first, second and third choices for the Republican nomination for president is "me."

Anyway the war has dispelled at least one delusion. The "sick man" in the southeast corner of Europe is by no means as sick as has been supposed. The British and French have found that the sultan and his folks are in reasonably good health. Doubtless the German doctors administered a considerable amount of invigorating tonic. At any rate the "unspeakable Turk" is now "up and about" by a large majority.

In the midst of the rush of the holidays we forgot to chronicle the fact that the Persian ministry had fallen. It didn't make any great amount of noise as it toppled and perhaps our oversight is pardonable. Although she is playing a minor part in the world war game, Persia is pretty far off and we find it difficult to become excited over the shake-up in the shah's cabinet, especially while we have pressing matters on hand at home. Tax-paying for example.

The McAlester News-Capital expresses some surprise that an honest man has been found in Ardmore. This man, so the story goes, received fourteen dollars in payment for damages caused by the explosion some months ago. Later he discovered that the damage could be repaired for thirteen dollars and he paid one dollar back to the Santa Fe Railroad company, which is footing the bill for the disaster. Possibly that man's brand of honesty is a fairly scarce article in other towns besides Ardmore.

Announcement has been made that the jurisdiction of T. H. Beacom, Rock Island general manager at El Reno, will be extended to take in another district. Mr. Beacom was at one time division superintendent with headquarters in Chickasha, and he has many friends here who are glad to see him continue his journey upward in the railroad realm. It will be no surprise to those who know him well if he winds up his career at the head of the system with which he has been connected since he began work as a boy water-carrier with a section gang. He is a splendid example of the self-made man who has won his way by merit and hard work.

As viewed by a writer who is quoted by the Literary Digest, it is safe to conclude that a nation's neutrality is the genuine article when it suits none of the parties to the great conflict in Europe. Press comment on President Wilson's last message shows that British, German and French alike take exceptions to it. The Germans don't like his attack on those hyphenates who have been making so much trouble in this country, twisting his words into a general assault on German-Americans. The French declare that he should have denounced the alleged acts of international outlawry that the folks of the allies have committed, while the British are by no means enthusiastic over Wilson's interpretation of Pan-Americanism. The trouble with these foreign critics is that they fail to grasp the president's point of view which is "America first."

St Simp says he always notices that he has nothing left at the end of the year when he spends all he makes.

Under suspicion—the man who gives you a friendly handshake and hopes the wife and babies are well. Politics!

We told J. Edwin all along that if he didn't tote fair and take us into his confidence, he was going to get what was coming to him.

As a newspaper man "Oscar" should have known that the only way to escape the limelight of publicity was to confess to the reporter and buy him off.

And did it ever occur to you that nine-tenths of the mistakes which are charged to the newspaper reporter should be entered on the account of his informants?

As usual a number of the women are puzzled to know what some of the pretty hand-worked presents were meant for. In all such cases there is nothing to do but to pass them on next year.

Leonard Hawn had a hard time getting his face adjusted the other day when he was having his picture "struck" for his "best girl." A winsome smile was finally brought forth when the photo man produced a baby rattle and told him to look out for the little bird.

JUST A THOUGHT
ERE THE DAY IS GONE.

The man who is out for success makes his own work. He doesn't wait for anyone to tell him what to do. If he does, he's branded as a subordinate for good and all. It ought to be enough for any live wire just to be in a business where something is going on. He soon sees that a big slice of the work falls into his hands simply because of his ability to do it better than the other fellow. Critique.

Wrong Cue.
